

Lumen® CISO as a Service

Expert security leadership when your business needs it.

Lumen CISO as a Service offers C-suite security consultants on a flexible basis to help meet your organization's security needs. Our team is comprised of industry-certified personnel regarded as thought leaders and influencers in their respective circles, with expertise spanning from 12 to over 20 years of hands-on industry experience. These current and former CISOs and CIOs have successfully led multinational organizations in pursuit of a resilient operating posture.

Accessible expert advice

- Access to industry-certified and continually engaged CISOs across global enterprises
- Global service coverage

Customized delivery model

- Need-based delivery model without the human resources overhead
- Flexibility to scale with time and changing business needs

Applied best practices

- Cross-industry experiences and lessons learned are applied for maximum benefit
- Active team of CISOs sharing latest best practices across service engagements
- Measurable performance metrics
- Key organizational risk indicators and metrics

Services are available globally with support for multiple languages. Advisors have executive leadership experience at large multinational organizations and hold U.S. government security clearances.

Common Use Cases

- Providing experienced interim leadership while your organization searches for or onboards a new CISO
- Supporting your current CISO in solving business challenges and meeting cybersecurity performance metrics

Features and Specs

- Interim and fractional CISO services
- Cybersecurity strategy advisory services
- Customized, on-demand security assessment, design, activation, and management
- Holistic framework creation and standardization
- Business case support services
- Measurable performance metrics
- Global coverage with services in all countries
- Multiple language support (Arabic, French, Hindi, Mandarin, Portuguese and Spanish)
- U.S. government security clearances

Why Lumen?

Partner with Lumen to build an effective managed security program that helps reduce your risk exposure and ease resource strain. With our combination of in-house solutions, skilled people and extensive networking, cloud and managed services experience, we can be your single provider to enable digital transformation.